Must Watch Boston and Detroit, Not Athletics, Says the Old Fox

Manager Griffith Does Not Think World's Champs Have Chance to Win 1914 Pennant—Jack Bentley Recovers From Slight Attack of Fever, and Practices.

By THOMAS KIRBY.

"It is not the Athletics, but Detroit and Boston that we have to watch," these few words Clark Griffith today expressed his views on the American League race.

Philadelphia, for some reason I have never been able to explain, has something on us every time we meet. I pound pitchers all over the lot and then they go to Philadelphia and pound the Athletics, while our pitchers usually hold the other fellows, but not the Athletics.

"However, I think it's Detroit and Boston that are going to cause the real trouble. We have passed the Athletics, whose pitchers do not seem to stand the gaff, and we have been getting better with each game."

"We will lose a lot of games before October, but we will also win a lot, and if we can beat out Detroit and Boston we will—well, what's the use? But at that it looks like Washington, Detroit, and Boston are the real class of the league. I may be mistaken, but that's my honest view, as matters now stand."

Jack Bentley was out at morning practice today, and was feeling much better. He feels that he has about recovered from the fever out of which he was shipped home with a broken thumb.

Ed Sieden, the veteran catcher, coach, and scout, is not with the Browns. He went back with Wallace, and is expected to look at some prospects in the West before the return of the club from the East.

Clarence Walker, who was tried out by the Athletics, and sent back to the Athletics, is not with the Browns. He has been sitting around 200 for the Browns, and is expected to look at some prospects in the West before the return of the club from the East.

With every other entrant, except one, taking their wash, the Griffins have driven the prov of their good ship into second place in the six-day race. The Athletics, who are leading by a scant margin, are expected to lead by a scant margin, and are expected to lead by a scant margin.

It may be that with the passing of another day the Nationals may be found back in the third position, but even then the Athletics are expected to lead by a scant margin, and are expected to lead by a scant margin.

It may be that they will crack to-day, but that will not kill the credit of them, and they will be back in the Athletics, who are expected to lead by a scant margin, and are expected to lead by a scant margin.

When the Nationals blanked Cleveland yesterday it marked the ninth consecutive victory over the Naps. Cleveland will not score for the first time in over a week, and is expected to lead by a scant margin.

Suppose the Griffins had made such a futile stand against the Athletics here as did the Naps against the Athletics, and the Athletics would have raved and the people imagined things.

The Athletics must win every game of the series against Detroit, and the Nationals must sweep St. Louis if the game of our fair city is to grace the first place in the race at the end of the week.

Either way you take it you can place few kopcks on the proposition that Detroit will be some sizzling tune. Detroit has been unusual in the past, and Athletics in the past, and Athletics in the past, and Athletics in the past.

With threats of coming up the East, the Detroit Tigers left home today, good hold on the first run, but even then the Athletics are expected to lead by a scant margin.

It has been a mighty battle that the Griffins fought since they went down in defeat twice in four starts before the Athletics. Today the Nationals are but two and one-half games removed from the top, and are expected to lead by a scant margin.

Game at 3:30 p. m.

Naps, it was freely predicted in the stands that the Naps would score at least five runs and win.

"The crowd did not warm up to the fact that Johnson was pitching in truly Naps sewer, until late in the game. But for an error he would have secured a shutout. Then they cheered him in only a halfhearted way."

Those who enjoy pounding Slick O'Loughlin may and need for thought in the following interview given by the umpire who will soon be with us. "I never tried to control the game. I never tried to control the game. I never tried to control the game."

"I don't glory in being called everything but a murderer, but I do not let anyone's right to do so or carry a grudge against those who think they have that right."

Walter Johnson has joined in the general guffaw about his changing his style of delivery in order to bring effectiveness. One of the ones "dug covered" that Johnson had out his old delivery and had shifted from the side arm to the overhead form of twirling.

Apparently, Johnson has done a Le-Sota, and discovered the fountain from which flowed the new "tommy" delivery. He was advised to take by one of the volunteer guardian angels. From where to the pitcher says this was as much new to him as to any one else who read it.

Harry Compton, one of the members of the local legion of Charlottesville, made a trip to Washington to see "Swift" in action. He goes back to the Athletics to see the pitcher who is still a pretty fair imitation of a pitcher.

It is seldom that one hears Walter Johnson protest on a decision. But yesterday he did so when he was called out by a balk in the first inning. Graney was caught flat-footed and Johnson protested. He was called out by a balk in the first inning.

It is said that Bill Martin, the Georgetown shortstop, was called out by a balk in the first inning. Graney was caught flat-footed and Johnson protested. He was called out by a balk in the first inning.

At Williams was once more "out of the barrel" behind the bat. Johnson could not have asked for better catching or better general support.

The only Washington error came in the fifth, when Ed Foster muffed a pop fly in front of third that ordinarily he could have easily caught with one hand. It did no damage, however.

Four times Foster faced the Cleveland pitchers. Once he was passed and the other three times he came through with hits.

Yesterday it was McBride's turn to crash into the calcium glare by performing the fielding feat of the day for the work the Nationals are doing. Second with all speed ahead, snatched a wicked drive from Jackson's bat, shifted the ball to his throwing hand without hesitating, and slammed the ball while still on the run. The throw was so fast that the Athletics were left wondering what it was.

Incidentally, when dealing out your credit for this Griffithian rush, do not forget the fact that the Athletics are but two and one-half games removed from the top, and are expected to lead by a scant margin.

MACKMEN SLIP BACK INTO THIRD PLACE

Scott Twirls White Sox to Victory in Final Game in Shibe Park. 5 to 2.

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—The world's champions slid back into third place yesterday, when "Death Valley" Jim Scott tamed them, 5 to 2. Jack Barry was back in the game, though, and that warmed the fans' hearts.

Scott's pitching was perfect, not a walk, being given by him today. Joe Bush was knocked out of the game in the fifth, but Herb Pennock showed class during the remainder of the game. The score:

White Sox..... 02 03 10-5
Mackmen..... 00 00 00-2
Batteries—White Sox: Scott and Schalk; Mackmen: Bush, Pennock, and Shibe.

DIAMOND ECHOES

The Brownies are here today.

Only three games in this series. Ray Caldwell has started another winning streak.

Joe Wood pitched the ninth inning yesterday against the Tigers.

Fred Clarke's Pittsburgh Pirates are once more under way, so look out.

To Cobb, the Tigers' great batsman, did not play yesterday. He is suffering from a lame side.

Jack Barry got into the game yesterday after almost three weeks' absence. His first at-bat was a home run.

Frank Baker suffered an injury to his right hand yesterday when he slipped in front of a liner from "Shano" Collins and had to quit.

"Gatem" Foster's batting eye was clear enough yesterday, to suit the most discerning. He hit three solid drives at bats. With the muffed hitting, the team looks much stronger offensively.

The Griffins at today two and a half games behind the Detroit Tigers. Three victories over the Browns would put them back in the lead.

Jeff Tesreau has struck his championship ball, and his last three games have been heartless. Yesterday he came through with another shutout, this time over the Reds. The "Ozark Bear" is holding his own with every big league pitcher in the business.

Johnny Bentley has sufficiently recovered from the attack of mumps and fever to watch part of yesterday's contest from the stands. But it appears as though the untimely illness has killed the Sandy Springs youth's chances of starting in the series that opens today.

Louie, a young Cuban pitcher, worked for the Braves yesterday against the Pirates, but lost out through the lack of support given him. This youngster has a great reputation in Havana, and the entire island is watching his play in the National League.

BRITISH VANQUISH AMERICAN GOLFERS

"Chick" Evans and Harold Weber Last of the Ten From U. S. to Lose Out.

SANDWICH, England, May 21.—The British Amateur Golf Cup will not go to the United States. This afternoon, with two more days of play to come, there was not an American in the running.

The easy defeat of Travers cast the last of the ten American entrants from the championship.

Evans was defeated four up and two to play. He was beaten in his first elimination round by Palmer, an Irish player.

The Americans who started were Francis Ouimet, open golf champion of the United States; Jerome D. Travers, amateur golf champion of the United States; Fred Hunter, Herreshoff, Charles W. Evans, Arthur G. Lockwood, Fraser Hale, G. W. Ingle, Edward S. Knapp, Henry J. Topping, and Harold Weber.

CAPITAL YOUNGSTER MAY SHIFT COMPLEXION OF CHAMPIONSHIP RACE

Georgetown Sprinter Is Now Classed With Such Stars as Arthur Duffy, Wefers, Craig, and Meyer—Started as Member of Western High School Track Team.

By BRYAN MORSE.

A Washington boy, Edmund Jones, representing Georgetown University, may change the complexion of the winner in the coming intercollegiate field and track championships, according to such authorities as Jack Mooney, of Cornell; Dr. George Orton, of Pennsylvania, and Johnny Mack, of Yale.

Jones' performance this spring have earned him previous attempts of last year, as a member of the Western High School track team until he has gained the attention of the entire world, and is counted upon taking rank with such stars as Duffy, Cartmel, Schick, Wefers, Craig, Meyer, and other latter day performers in the century and furlong.

Last year Jones was several times clocked in ten seconds for the 100-yard dash. He defeated Arthur Robinson, the Mercesburg flyer, and easily gained top honors among the schoolboy athletes in this section of the country.

Falling to show much more than ordinary ability at the quarter mile indoors this winter, Jones came through with a fine win over Patterson, of Penn., the intercollegiate champion, and later, defeated Potter, of Yale, Cornell, of the same university, Patterson and Lippincott, of Penn., in the 30-yard dash.

At the present time Ingersoll and Reilly, of Cornell, Patterson, Jones, pincock, of Penn; Barron, of Harvard, and Cornell and Ricketts, of Yale, are the only contenders for the title.

Johnstone, of Harvard; Good, of Virginia, and Johnson, of Yale, are the only breadwinners who have bettered Jones' mark in the broad jump, and he may be counted upon to do better.

Time was when Arthur Duffy, Bernie Wefers, Joe Reilly, and Billy Holland, of the Blue and Gray, used to cut quite a swath in the intercollegiate. This year it may be Jones and Robinson who will upset the wise ones.

William Handberg, umpire of the high school baseball series, former baseball player, and a former member of the Blue and Gray, used to cut quite a swath in the intercollegiate. This year it may be Jones and Robinson who will upset the wise ones.
